80 Displaced Ukrainians In County Form Association; Are Urged To Become U.S. Citizens

Eighty refugees from Communism who have come to Adams county to take up new lives as farm workers in America formed the Ukrainian Relief Association of Adams County at a picnic meeting Sunday afternoon near New Chester.

Gathered on the shady lawn of Fair Acres, home of J. W. Bishop who has been active in bringing the Ukrainian "displaced persons" to Adams county, the men, women and children heard United Ukrainian-American Relief committee heads and a Greek Catholic priest, speaking in their native tongue, urge upon the immigrants their responsibilities as prospective citizens of America.

Dr. Walter Gallon, Philadelphia, executive director of the United Ukrainian-American Relief committee, urged all of the Ukrainians to file "first papers" for American citizenship as soon as possible.

With American and Ukrainian flags waving overhead, the new arrivals in America—some of whom have been in Adams county only a few weeks and none of them here more than six months—conducted an election of officers for their new organization.

Here And There News Collected At Random

This is fly time.
Flies batted to the outfield in a baseball game are not the flies we refer to.

We speak of the fly which endangers our health. This is the Musca domestica or house fly. He is an ill-bred, ill-mannered, pestiferous insect — and he has dirty feet. He wades around in muck up to his knees, in garbage, refuse, barn dirt and sewage. Laden with unsavory foul, unhealthy matter, then flies to the nearest human habitation, such as a home.

The fly crawls in some crack in the screen or enters on the wing if the doors and windows are unscreened and open. He revels in a home where there are babies and young children. He looks over the kitchen and if there is exposed food around, he lands on it and messes it up with his dirty feet. He dotes on walking around on baby's face or on his teething ring or crust of bread.

Many diseases, chiefly those of diarrheal nature, are spread by flies. Bacillary dysentery, typhoid, staphylococcal food poisoning and amebiasis are spread by flies.

Swatting the fly does some good, but screening all doors and windows, covering all garbage receptacles and refuse, and protecting food within the home are better preventives against flies.

Phooey on flies.

Notwithstanding the popular belief that the bathroom is the most dangerous room in the house, more home accidents occur in the kitchen and dining room than in any other part of the home, according to a prominent New York specialist. He said that a recent study revealed that 30 per cent of the accidents happened in the dining room and kitchen and only a negligible proportion of the total number of accidents took place in the bathroom. . . . There is now available a radar stove made of stainless steel which cooks food in one second. . . . More than six million germs can be carried by the average house fly. . . . More than one-half of

Tito And Stalin Exchange Series Of Insulting Notes

(By The Associated Press)
London, Aug. 22 (AP)—The white hot war of words between Yugoslavia and Russia grew more intense today as Marshal Tito's supporters hurled defiant countercharges at the Soviets.

In answer to a Russian threat to take "effective measures" to protect Russian citizens in Yugoslavia, the Yugoslav Communist organ Borba accused the Soviet of using these citizens as spies.

Borba, mouthpiece of Tito's government, said the Russian note was full of "vile language, insults and threats" and was delivered in an insulting fashion. The Russian protest was delivered to a doorman at the Yugoslav foreign ministry at 5 a. m.

Yugoslavia also replied yesterday to a Soviet note of Aug. 11 which said Yugoslavia was an enemy of the Soviet Union.

The Yugoslav reply to her erstwhile Cominform mentor accused Russia of a double-cross in dropping her support of Yugoslav claims for Austrian territory.

The feud between the Russians and Tito dates back to June, 1948, when the Yugoslav Reds were thrown out of the Cominform (Communist International Information bureau) for deviation from Moscow-type Marxism. The Yugoslavs were charged with anti-Soviet nationalism.

The split was widened perceptibly since Tito, subjected to an economic boycott by the Cominform nations, has made overtures to the West for money and supplies.

Russia, meanwhile, has used Tito's attempts to get help from the West as the basis for charges that Yugoslavia was aligning herself with Western "imperialists." The most recent Russian note went even further and compared Tito's regime with that of Generalissimo Franco in Spain.

Tito has steadfastly refused to knuckle under to the Kremlin and has publicly warned that his army is prepared to fight any invader.

UNITY NEEDED, JUDGE SHEELY SAYS IN SPEECH

Two of the basic and finest emotions among man are love of religion and love of country, Judge W. C. Sheely told members of the Dorsey-Stanton Legion post, the auxiliary to the post and others gathered in St. Paul's AME Zion church, South Washington street, Sunday evening for a memorial service sponsored by the Legion post and its auxiliary.

The jurist praised the Legion post members for "the evidence of true love for country you have shown by your participation in the world wars, and the evidence of love for your religion shown in such services as this one." The service was held in memory of Starrett Dorsey and Albert Stanton, both of Gettysburg, who were killed in action during World War II and for whom the local Legion post is named.

Recalling that "during the days of war, we were united in purpose, united with everyone working for the good of his country," Judge Sheely urged that "that unity be regained that our nation might win the peace and through the efforts of all, united, bring about a period of peace and prosperity for all. We have the strength to make a better world, only our disunity can prevent its being brought about."

He also paid tribute to Dorsey and Stanton who "gave their lives in one of the noblest causes for which a man can die—the good of his country."

During the ceremony the service flag maintained at the church throughout the war until the present time was turned over to the Dorsey-Stanton post to keep in perpetuity. The flag, which bore stars for all members of the congregation in service was presented to Joseph Wansel as representative of the Legion post.

Truman Claims Soviet Action Forces U.S. To Arm Its Friends

Miami, Fla., Aug. 22 (AP)—President Truman pleaded today for fast approval of the full $1,450,000,000 Arms Aid program as "part of the price of peace."

He indirectly told critics of the plan in Congress—without calling any names—that peace with freedom and justice "can not be bought cheaply" in a world made uneasy by "Soviet pressure."

And he described the goal as prevention of aggression.

"We are not arming ourselves and our friends to start a fight with anybody," the President said. "We are building our defenses so that we won't have to fight."

Addresses VFW Convention
He spoke before the Golden Jubilee convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars after an 822-mile flight here from Washington in the Independence, the White House plane. He planned to fly back immediately.

The President blamed Russian tactics in the United Nations and elsewhere for the need to arm friendly nations "to resist aggression."

Russia, the President declared, "has blocked every effort to establish an effective international police force and to free the world from fear of aggression."

"For that reason," he went on, "we have to join other friendly nations in forming regional defense pacts."

The President, speaking in Dinner Key auditorium, condemned Communism for its "false" claim that it satisfies "the universal desire for a better life."

"False Promises"
Instead, he said, it "lures men by false promises back to tyranny and slavery."

The President made no reference to the plight of Communist-controlled China.

But, he said, the Philippines and Korea, the two young republics in (Please Turn to Page 8)

"NO DEFENSE" IS VET'S PLEA IN MANSLAUGHTER

Nelson E. Schultz, 26-year-old Orrtanna R. 1, blinded World War II veteran, this morning entered a plea of nolle contendere to a charge of involuntary manslaughter on which he was indicted last week by a grand jury.

He was scheduled to appear for trial this week on the matter which involved the death of his four-year-old brother, Barry. The child was fatally injured when a truck operated by the blind veteran over-turned near Cashtown.

His attorney, Eugene R. Hartman, who entered the plea of "no defense" for Schultz said he had no comment to make on why the veteran made the plea instead of standing trial. Schultz will appear for sentence Saturday.

List Being Shortened
Schultz was one of two defendants indicted by the grand jury last week and scheduled for trials this week to enter nolle contendere pleas. Maynard W. Richards, Littlestown, entered a similar plea to a morals charge.

Another case scheduled for this term of court, that of William Francis Swope, Aspers R. 1, on a morals charge, was continued by the court until November.

In addition Attorney Richard A. Brown, attorney for Charles Kuhn, Cashtown, charged with drunken driving, said his client is considering entering a plea before his case comes to trial.

One Injured When Cars Crash Here

One person was injured and a driver arrested as a result of an accident Saturday night at 10:45 o'clock at the intersection of South Washington and West Middle streets.

Kenneth Leroy Shelton, Taneytown R. 1, driver of one of the cars involved, was charged by borough police before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, with failing to halt for a stop sign. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Mrs. Frances Hyser, 37 Frederick street, Littlestown, was reported by police as having suffered bruises of the abdomen in the accident.

According to police Shelton failed to stop at the sign while traveling north on South Washington street and collided with a car driven by Arthur B. Martin, Gettysburg R. 4, which was traveling east on West Middle street. Damage totalled $325.

Truman Claims Soviet Action Forces U.S. To Arm Its Friends

A number of jurors have been excused from duty, the court announced this morning. They include Charles Straley, Littlestown; Wilford Keiser, Orrtanna R. 2; M. W. Klinefelter, Gettysburg R. 3; Mrs. Bertha Waybright, Gettysburg R. 3; Mrs. Ruth Mumper, New Oxford; Nellie Myers, Hanover; George Phillips, Biglerville R. 1, and James Reaver, Gettysburg R. D.

The jury hearing the Carter case today included Robert Mayers, Littlestown R. 2; Mrs. Sarah Myers, 32 East Middle street; William Horner, Gettysburg R. 5; Harry Pecher, Gettysburg; Mrs. Maude King, York Springs R. 1; Mrs. Jamie Lighter, Buford avenue; M. G. Colestock, New Oxford; Miss Etta King, New Oxford R. 2; Harold Brown, Fairfield; George Cool, Littlestown; Mrs. Helen M. Milhines, New Oxford R. 2, and Paul Frederick Sterner, Stratton street.

"More Dings Than Fender"

Edward Steinhour, Gettysburg R. 1, prosecutor in the case against Carter was the first of a procession of witnesses who appeared on the stand this morning to testify they had seen cars collide May 8 at the intersection of Breckenridge and South Washington street. Steinhour was the operator of one car, on South Washington street. He and others claimed that the car which came out of Breckenridge street and struck the rear bumper and fender of the Steinhour car was the vehicle of and was operated by Thomas Carter. Steinhour gave chase to the car, and caught up with a vehicle driven by Carter, near Carter's home. While most witnesses were certain it was Carter's car, a few could not be certain as to the identity.

A E. Hutchison, local garageman, was called by the defense at the start of its portion of the trial to testify that he had examined the cars at the request of police and had found no evidence of any fresh damage to the fender of Carter's car to indicate it may have struck anything during the previous few months. Terming the Carter car's fenders as "more dings than fender," he added that even old damage was eight inches above where there would have been a dent if the Carter car had struck the indicated spot on the Steinhour vehicle.

SPAATZ LAUDS A-BOMB, B-36

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP) — Gen. Carl Spaatz, retired air force chief, said today the B-36 bomber and the atomic bomb "are the greatest forces for peace in the world."

In terms of wars of the past, he said, Russia could subdue "practically all of Europe and Asia in a relatively short period of time" but the B-36 and the bomb maintain "a balance of power for peace."

The general was called before the House Armed Services committee in its inquiry into whether political influence or favoritism figured in developing the big six-engine B-36.

Spaatz said that when he commanded the air forces he made a decision to continue a contract for 90 B-36's let in 1943. His decision was made around December, 1946, or January, 1947.

Even after rehabilitation of western Europe's political, economic and military strength, Spaatz said, the B-36 and the atomic bomb "will still be most potent instruments for maintaining a balance of power for peace."

When today's hearing began, committee Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) told reporters only one anonymous document figure in the investigation so far. Vinson said he knew nothing about a second statement mentioned in published reports.

Joseph B. Keenan, special counsel for the inquiry into the super-bomber program, called four generals to take up where Gen. H. H. Arnold left off last week.

The war-time air force chief told the subcommittee in California that the long range bomber won friends without favoritism or politics getting into the picture.

MUNDT CLAIMS NEW FACTS ON 5 PERCENTERS

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP) — A secret letter beginning "Dear Pop" is shedding new light on the perfume oil and home freezer aspects of the five percent inquiry, Senator Mundt (R-S.D.) said today.

The letter was written by a former member of the armed services to his father, who turned it over to Mundt. The South Dakota lawmaker is a member of the special Senate subcommittee checking on whether improper influence has figured in the handling of government business.

Mundt declined to discuss the contents of the letter in any detail. He did describe it as "a significant eye-witness account" of something which took place which appears to have an important bearing on matters we have been investigating."

He added:

Ties In With Freezers

"The letter ties in with the whole chain of events dealing with the presentation of home freezers to prominent people in Washington and the subsequent activities of representatives of the perfume company which paid for the freezers."

Mundt said the youth who wrote the letter either will be called to testify at the Senate public hearings, to be resumed tomorrow, or will be questioned privately.

Mundt declined to name the boy or his father. He said the letter was prompted by accounts of the investigation which appeared in the newspapers during the last few days.

The committee has been told that seven home freezers presented to Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan and other Washington notables in 1945 were paid for by the Albert Verley Co., a Chicago perfume oil firm.

Vaughan To Testify

Vaughan, who is President Truman's military aide, will testify later this week. He has said the freezers were given to him by David Bennett, head of the Verley company, and Harry Hoffman, whose Milwaukee advertising firm handles the Verley account.

Vaughan said he kept one of the units and turned the others over to friends. One went to Mrs. Truman at the summer White House in Independence, Mo.

The committee also has received testimony that, likewise in 1945, Hoffman, John Maragon and a third Verley company agent got government clearance for a business trip to Paris in an army plane. They arrived on the heels of liberating troops.

Maragon has had various Washington connections; he lists Vaughan as a good friend.

The committee plans to question Maragon this week.

MURRY DICKSON PLANKS CARDS; ATHLETICS WIN

By JOE REICHLER
(AP Sports Writer)

Should the St. Louis Cardinals' giant pennant drive end in failure, the blame perhaps could be laid to last January 29.

That was the day Robert Hannen, then president of the Cardinals, and Murry Dickson, a front-line pitcher, to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The transaction brought $125,000 in cash to St. Louis but no players. Dickson, a prominent factor in the Cardinals' 1943 and '46 championships, won 12 games for the Cards in 1948. He also was helpful in relief.

Dickson has not fared well in Pittsburgh. The little righthander in Tracy, Mo., has been able to win only six games this season, but he has made over his previous record.

He has made six starts since the Cardinals, and has yet to win a bad game.

Shuts Out Cards

The Cardinals faced a golden opportunity to open their biggest lead of the year over Brooklyn—two and a half games—yesterday. They had whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-0, in the first game of a double-header while the Dodgers were losing to Boston, 5-0. That gave the Cardinals a two-game lead.

A victory in the second game would increase their margin to two and a half games.

But they reckoned not with their mercurial pitcher. Dickson, who had beaten them but shut them out in two singles. The score was 8-0.

Red Martin, a repatriate from the Mexican league, pitched the 4-2 win for the Cards.

Voiselle Wins For Braves

Nippy Jones paced St. Louis' nine-inning attack on Bill Werle and Ripwell with three doubles and a triple. Slaughter drove in two runs with a mighty triple off the right field wall.

Pete Castiglione and Dino Resti sparked the Pirates in the second game. Castiglione had a two-run homer and double. Resti hit two-run homer and single. Harry Hechen was the victim.

Bill Voiselle pitched the Braves' shutout victory over the Cardinals. Pete Reiser, who the Cards traded to Boston last winter, led three of the winners' runs, and knocked in two with a single home run. Don Newcombe, who yet to beat Boston, dropped his third decision. He has won 11.

Brissie Beats Yankees

The Boston Red Sox closed in on the American league-leading New York Yankees, cutting their first-place margin to two and a half games by walloping Washington, 4-1.

Philadelphia helped the Red Sox by downing the Yankees, 8-7.

Jack Kramer scattered seven senior hits to post his fourth victory over the Red Sox.

Lefty Lou Brissie and First Base

an Ferris Fain helped celebrate "Connie Mack Day" at Yankee stadium, by leading the A's to their only win over the Yankees in a three-game set. Brissie went the distance for the Yankees. Fain drove in six runs with a double and grand slam homer.

Third-place Cleveland split a doubleheader with the White Sox. Chicago, The Indians came from behind to win the second game, 7-4, after Chicago had won the opener, 4-1.

St. Louis moved out of eighth place by splitting a twin bill with Detroit. Les Moss' two-run pinch hit single in the eighth beat the Tigers, 2-1, in the first game. Home runs by Vic Wertz, Pat Mullin and Paul Campbell won the second game for Detroit, 8-7.

Giants Win On Forfeit

The Philadelphia Phils divided a doubleheader with the New York Yankees. Kenny Hentzelman blanked the Durocher's crew, 4-0, for the Phils in the opener. The second game was forfeited to the Giants by umpire Al Barlick in the ninth inning when the Philadelphia custom-ers rained pop bottles and other missiles on the field in protest over decision by Umpire George Barr.

Barr had ruled that Philly Outfielder Richie Ashburn had trapped drive off the bat of Joe LaFata. Ashburn argued that he caught it. The Giants were in front at the time, 4-2.

Cincinnati came back to get a hit in its twin bill with Chicago, winning the second game, 4-1, after the Cubs had won the opener, 5-4.

Britons Given 11th Walker Cup Setback

Mamaroneck, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Great Britain never can expect to regain the Walker cup until its golfers overcome the Americans' mastery around the greens, says Percy (Laddie) Lucas, captain of the British forces.

"We're going right back to England and start working on our edges and short irons," the 33-year-old former RAF Wing commander said today as he reviewed Britain's 11th setback in 12 cup clashes with the U.S. "That's where our fellows broke our backs."

The cream of Britain's amateur golfers were repulsed, 10-2, in the renewal of the International classic last week-end over the Winged Foot course.

The Adams County Baseball league ended its regular league schedule Saturday but the final standing is still in doubt inasmuch as seven postponements are still listed.

Gettysburg, which is involved in five of the games, has announced it will forfeit all remaining contests leaving only the Littlestown at New Oxford and Emmitsburg at Hanover contests to be played. President Maynard Stuckey could not be reached today relative to setting dates for the games which will be important in determining the final standing of the top four teams who will take part in the round-robin playoffs.

The best game played Saturday resulted in a 7-3 victory for the Conewago VFW over Orrtanna in a 13-inning affair played at Orrtanna. Conewago tallied a run in the second frame and Orrtanna tied it in the third on a triple by K. Singley and J. Wetzel's safe squeeze bunt. Jim Bucher homered for the league leaders in the third and then Orrtanna went ahead with two runs in the sixth on a single by H. Dear-dorff, sacrifice by Biesecker and singles by Cease and B. Singley. In the ninth Kump singled and R. Allison doubled to tie the count for Conewago. The leaders tabbed four runs in the thirteenth to clinch victory on a triple by Walters, singles by Bucher and S. Singley, a sacrifice and an error.

Ronnie Baltzley gained his third straight relief hurling victory against Orrtanna this year. Singley, who hurled 12 1-3 innings for Orrtanna, has been the regular first baseman.

Hanover crushed York Springs 20-6 at Hanover; New Oxford nipped Bendersville 6-5 on the latter's field; Fairfield disposed of Littlestown 7-3 at Fairfield, while Gettysburg forfeited to Emmitsburg.

Coaltown Shatters Oval Mile Record

Chicago, Aug. 22 (AP)—It could only happen to astounding Calumet farm.

A Kentucky Derby winner chasing a stablemate to a new world mile record, while the best horse in the "family" munched oats in a nearby barn.

The new record-holder is Calumet's cyclonic Coaltown, who Saturday whirled the Whirlaway stakes mile in 1:34, with team-mate Ponder, 1949 Kentucky Derby champ, second two and a quarter lengths behind.

Coaltown's feat of shattering the 1:34 2/5 world oval record shared by Equipoise and Previcarator rekindled the argument of whether he is the peer of vacationing Citation in the Calumet stable-of-stables.

Citation's brisk exercise now at Washington park is strolling a bit. He is recuperating from lameness which developed last winter and probably won't try to improve his 27-out-of-29 win record until next fall at Belmont.

GREAT DAY FOR "CONNIE" MACK AT NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Octogenarian Connie Mack, still beaming over "my greatest day in baseball," is looking forward to more glorious ones "in the next few years" with his Philadelphia Athletics.

The 86-year-old manager of the Athletics, honored at Yankee stadium yesterday with a special "Connie Mack Day," told the 64,323 fans that he expects to give Philadelphia another pennant in the next few years.

"This has been the happiest day of my life," Connie told the near capacity crowd. "I wish to thank the New York Yankee organization and the baseball fans of New York for making this a great day for me. I expect in the next few years to have more great days in Philadelphia."

"Earle's Much Too Old"

"Mr. Mack" with eleven American league championships behind him, is convinced he has another pennant winner in the making. He is equally certain he will be leading it to the flag.

Mack, in his 50th year as manager of the Athletics, says he has no intention of quitting.

Asked whether he was thinking of turning over the managerial reins to his son and current coach, Earle Mack, the kindly old gentleman smiled and replied: "Oh, no. I couldn't do that, Earle's much too old for the job."

The record book shows that Earle has had 58 birthday cakes. Mack won his eleventh championship in 1931 at the age of 68.

Old Timers Play

Connie probably never will forget the tremendous reception he was given at the stadium. It must have warmed his heart to see once again such former favorites in White Elephant uniforms as Lefty Grove, Homer Run Baker, Jimmy Fox, Bing Miller, Camera Eye Max Bishop, Mule Haas, Mickey Cochrane and Jack Barry.

The eight, along with his son, Earle, and Al Simmons, another of his coaches, took part in an old-timers game against a team of Yankee old timers.

Before addressing the throng Connie was presented with a plaque by League President Will Harridge for his 50 years as an American league manager.

PHILLIES' FANS BREAK 6-GAME WINNING STREAK

Philadelphia, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies lost a National league baseball game to the New York Giants yesterday because their fans got mad at the umpire.

A 15-minute barrage of pop bottles, over-ripe fruit and wads of paper forced Umpire Al Barlick to give the Giants a 9-0 forfeit victory in the nightcap of a Shibe park doubleheader. He said he did it "for the good of the people, baseball and the players."

It was the first major league forfeit since September 27, 1942. That contest, too, involved the Giants. The New Yorkers were playing the Boston Braves when a horde of youngsters swarmed on the field.

Claims He Caught It

The Phils had won the opener 4-0 to stretch their win streak to six straight. But the fans ended the string in the ninth inning of the second game. At the time the Giants were ahead 4-2.

The ire of the Phil rooters—19,742 strong—was directed at Umpire George Barr. Barlick, umpire-in-chief since he was officiating behind the plate, merely called the forfeit. He acted under a National league rule which says a game may be declared forfeited if the field is not cleared within 15 minutes after start of a rhabarb.

Barr, umpiring at second, made the disputed decision that turned loose the fury of the fans. He called "a hit" what the Phils and the fans insisted was an out.

The Giants Joe Lafata lashed a long fly which Outfielder Richie Ashburn claimed was caught eight inches from the ground. Barr said it was "on catch." The blow scored Willard Marshall from third.

"Kill the Umpire"

Ashburn slammed his glove to the ground. He stormed in at Barr. Other Phil players joined the argument.

Barr just turned his back—the decision stuck. Then the pop bottles began to fly, together with jeering shouts of "kill the umpire."

Barlick told Phil Manager Eddie Sawyer to clear the field for resumption to play. But efforts to quiet the fans and halt the bottle barrage proved fruitless. So Barlick called the forfeit.

"I had to think of the safety of everyone," Barlick said. "And that meant fans who were sitting in the lower stands and were in danger of being struck by pop bottles, fruit and other missiles being thrown from the upper stands."

"Matter of Judgment"

"There just was nothing else to do," he added that the Phils management "was not at fault."

Sawyer was angry. He said it was a "stupid decision by the umpire." Barr insisted, however, he had not been wrong.

"Ashburn never caught that ball," Barr said. "Of course, that's the way I saw it. It's a matter of judgment and I guess I'm entitled to my decision."

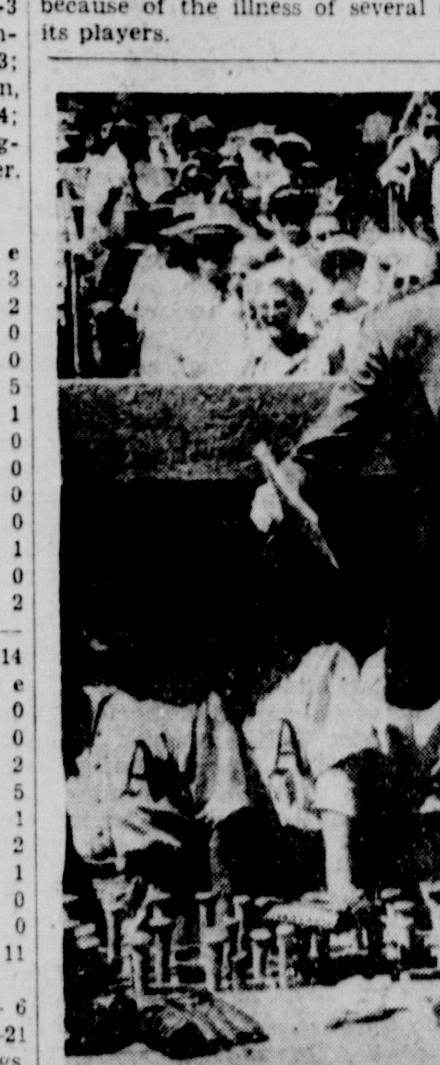

Sawyer tossed aside reports that the Phils would protest.

York Squad Wins Pa. Softball Title

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP)—The Prince A. A. of York, is the 1949 Pennsylvania State amateur softball champion.

The York team twice defeated Erie here Saturday to win the men's title. A fancy stint of 20 straight innings by Pitcher George Powell helped York win, 2-1 and 3-1, with the final game going 11 innings.

Erie was awarded the championship in the women's division when Allentown was unable to compete because of the illness of several of its players.

Connie Mack, 86, tall, thin, kindly manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, emerges from the dugout to be introduced to crowd of 65,000 in Yankee Stadium as he is honored for his "long and meritorious service to baseball." Behind him are stars of the Athletics of yester-year and present.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Rev. E. V. Gerhart, lately of this place, left Chambersburg on Monday for Cincinnati—his new field of pastoral labor.—The Rev. Jacob Ziegler, of Bedford, had accepted a call from Mr. Gerhart's late charge in this vicinity, and expects to enter upon his duties early in the fall.

Married: On the 12th inst., by the Rev. B. Keller, Mr. Peter Matthias Weaver, to Miss Mary Ann Bushman—both of Freedom township.

On the 21st inst., by the same, Mr. Daniel Wangert, to Miss Julia Arner—both of Menallen township.

On the 16th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Schler, Mr. Jonas Ster, to Miss Rebecca Bender—both of this county.

We are pleased to learn that letters have been received from the young Messrs. Cooper, of this county, dated in May, announcing their safe arrival at San Francisco, in California, and in the enjoyment of excellent health. They were then about leaving for the mines.

Mr. Franklin Gardner, of this county, has been appointed to a clerkship at Washington.

Bedford, Aug. 16, 1849

Mr. Editor:—Yesterday was a great day for the little town of Bedford. . . . The President was received at the Bedford Hotel on the part of the citizens, by a gentleman of Bedford, and he replied briefly. . . . He said he would gladly shake hands with the reverend clergy, the ladies and the elderly gentlemen, but would beg rest to receive the will for the act. . . . He was somewhat feeble when he arrived, having just recovered from an attack of illness in Carlisle. However in a little while, the pretty looks and smiles of the ladies, and the bouquets they gave him, brought cheerfulness to him, and he went about as gay and lively as the liveliest.

The day closed with a dress ball and a fine supper to honor the President and Governor.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Hop at the Keystone Hotel on Tuesday evening was a success. It was conceded by all present to have been the finest thing of the kind this season.

On the day of the circus in Gettysburg, Mr. Adam Storrick was relieved of his pocket book by some thief. Later the pocket book was found near the Fair grounds, minus the money, but all the papers intact.

Married: Walter Gise—On the 22nd inst., by the Rev. E. Breidenbaugh, Mr. Conrad B. Walter, of Franklin township, to Miss Leah Gise, of Butler township.

Lefevre-Williams—On the 13th inst., Mr. A. F. Lefevre to Miss Laura, daughter of Rev. L. T. Williams, all of Littlestown.

Quite an Enjoyable Entertainment of Vocal and Instrumental Music was given in Christ's Church, in this place, on Friday night, by the choir of the church, assisted by several ladies and gentlemen. Mrs. Cowman, of Baltimore, Prof. Rupp, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Samuel H. Witherow, of Washington, former residents of this place, being on a visit to their friends, took part in the entertainment. The Concert was in fact an exhibition of Gettysburg musical talent and a creditable one at that. The selections were creditably rendered, all were heartily applauded by the audience, and a reputation of several demanded.

Pic-Nic: A Basket Pic-Nic will be held on the premises of Leander Cunningham, on the road from Moritz's Tavern to Fairfield, on Saturday, August 29.

A grand social Pic-Nic will be held in Rexroth's grove, near Wenksville, on Saturday, September 5.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HUNGER

There is nothing in this world quite so tragic as hunger. There is no problem more important than to see that not a single human being on this globe goes hungry. With billions upon billions of dollars being spent upon utensils of war, what a challenge to Christianity and our so-called civilization to read and know about the millions of human beings in many parts of the world daily going hungry.

Hunger is Communism's most potent companion. The appeasing of hunger in the world is, in itself, a defense against Communism. Even Democracy cannot thrive with hunger eating away at its very heart. In the days when Herbert Hoover was at the helm feeding the countries of the world, during and after the first World War, the cry was "Food will win the war." There is a different interpretation to this phrase today. Food will, more than any other factor, prevent another war.

Adequately feed the people of a nation and they will drive all enemies from their midst—without any fanfare and urging! But so long as they are hungry they will grasp at the least semblance of hope. The cry of the late Wendell Willkie was for production, and more production, but production is valueless unless there is wise and far flung distribution to where it will reach those most in need.

In my early life I experienced what it was to go to bed at night for days at a time without food, but those periods were as nothing in comparison with the hunger of those today with the cruel aftermath of war and wanton destruction all about them, and with the cry of innocent children echoing throughout an entire nation. It is this hunger of the body that creates hunger of the soul!

There are many noble men and women devoting their lives to the appeasement of this hunger among faroff nations, as well as those in our own part of the world, but these efforts are so inadequate. There is enough food wasted in America to feed millions of hungry abroad in the world. The children, especially, in all parts of the world, should be given sufficient food to nourish their frail bodies for they are the ones who will run the world in the years to come. Freedom from hunger, more than any other, is the paramount problem of the world!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Too Much Speed!"

YOUTH AND AGE

Goals for youth to strive to gain.
Fame and fortune to attain.
Have no doubt of this, my boy:
In success are pride and joy.
But you'll learn what I was told.
Love is best when you are old.

Strive for any goal you choose
While you have the strength to use.
While you've courage, unafraid,
Stand to every challenge made.
But more precious than is gold,
Will be love when you are old.

Ambition for the young was meant.
Never should they be content.
While they've strength, from day to day
They should seek the better way.
But when old they sit to rest,
They will find that love is best.

To your goal, while you are strong,
Boy of mine take love along.
Keep in mind in all you do.
Those who put their faith in you.
Wealth is slippery; hard to hold.
Love is best when you are old.

Curdy and Kuhn, being on the bench. This being the first regular term since Judge Wills' appointment, there was a natural curiosity to observe his mode of dispensing justice. We think that we only record the judgment of members of the Bar, officers of the Court, and the general public in saying that the impression made was eminently favorable.

Judge Wills is a good lawyer, well booked up in the principles of the law and the practice, wide awake on the bench, and while courteous to the Bar, disposes of business very rapidly, allowing no unnecessary delay either in trials or arguments. At the April Session of the Court, very little business was disposed of, for the reason that no preparation had been made to try cases, on account of the uncertainty of having any Court. Judge Fisher, at the last moment, was called by the Associate Judges to preside. One case only was tried, and all the rest continued to the August term. These cases were all disposed of last week by settlement or trial, and the criminal calendar cleared off by Wednesday noon besides disposing of current business and the argument list. This rapid progress in business left the Court without anything to engage its attention on Wednesday afternoon, the Grand Jury being engaged in the examination of new Bills. The petit jurors were discharged and the Court adjourned to Thursday morning to enable the Grand Jury to finish its labors.

SEIZE LEADER OF VAST DOPE RING

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—A vast illicit drug ring—so powerful that it sparked an abortive revolution in Peru and involved United Nations action—was exposed here on Friday with the arrest of the alleged ring-leader.

Authorities called the arrest the first high point in an international crack-down on a huge smuggling syndicate which has piled a $500,000-a-month cocaine trade between the U. S. and Peru.

American, Peruvian and U. N. authorities joined in a two-year drive to smash the ring, said to have used narcotics profits to arm insurgents in Peru in an attempt to seize control of the country.

The story of political intrigue and plotting, tied in with large-scale drug traffic, was unfolded with the seizure yesterday of the alleged ring-leader, Eduardo Balazero, 48, of Great North River, Long Island. He is a naturalized U. S. citizen of Peruvian descent.

More than 80 persons, some of them prominent business men, have been arrested in Peru, authorities said, and 50 or 60 operatives in this country are believed connected with the ring.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Joseph P. Martin said the syndicate apparently tried recently to expand operations to Italy through efforts to contact Charles (Lucky) Luciano, exiled one-time vice king.

7 U.S. Agencies Streamlined Today

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Seven federal agencies were shifted or streamlined today. That just about completes government reorganization for this year. No more major changes are likely until 1950.

Congress and President Truman, by means of five laws and six reorganization plans, have gone part of the way in carrying out the recommendations of the commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover.

Here is the score for 1949: Six reorganization plans took effect today (technically at midnight last night). The U. S. Employment Service and certain other functions moved into the Labor Department. The Bureau of Public Roads moved into the Commerce Department. The No. 1 officials in the Post Office Department, Civil Service Commission, and Maritime Commission got more administrative authority. The National Security Resources Board and National Security Council became parts of the executive office of the President.

Local men representing the immaculate Conception Catholic church, spent the week-end at the laymen's retreat at Mt. St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg. The men are: Raymond Felix, Albert Becker, James R. Robinson, Thomas O'Brien, Curvin A. Miller, Robert L. Noel, Frank Flesham, Louis Smith, Joseph F. Smith, Reginald Miller, William G. Weaver, Emory Smith, Frank Carbaugh, Sr., Rodney A. Noel, and Bernard Baker.

Among the group of guests at the cottage of Mrs. Annie M. Baker, Abbotstown, entertained at a corn and wiener roast in celebration of the birthday of Charles Byers, were: Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Alwine and daughters, Alice and Lois, and son, Douglas, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Byers and five children, all of this area.

The Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor of the local Catholic church, with the Rev. Damian McGovern, who has been assisting him this summer, are beginning their annual work of the taking of the parish census. Parishioners are now preparing to make their annual contributions toward the fund to furnish the winter supply of fuel for the church.

Grace D. and Charles E. Fellman, Emmaus, sold to Clyde C. and Bernice E. Metz, Franklin township, a property in Franklin township.

Benjamin F. Redding, Littlestown, sold to Joseph M. and Thomas L. Cookson, Jr., same place, a property on M street in that borough.

Samuel M. and Laura Keagy, Littlestown, sold to Paul C. and Annie M. Worley, Littlestown, R. 2, a property on East King street, Littlestown.

Leo J. and Martha W. Markle, Conewago township, sold to John R. and Katherine M. Zinn, same place, a property in that township.

Oscar H. and Aloise T. Hostetter, and J. Edward and Jennie M. Hostetter, all of Hanover, sold to Maurice W. and Mary E. Trump, Hanover, R. 4, an 11 acre property in Conewago township.

Housewife Rings Bell As Cops Come

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Dora Dove has become a volunteer bell-ringing lookout to sound the approach of the police for motorists getting traffic jams before ball games at Forbes Field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pre-game traffic jams brought a police order banning stops at stores along the street. Merchants say the ban straits nearly six hours before game time.

So recently Mrs. Dove rigged up a crow's nest and installed a navy surplus bell on her second floor porch on Semple street.

Each time she spotted a motorcycle policeman, Mrs. Dove clanged the bell. Shopping motorists scrambled to their cars and drove off before they could be tagged.

Police didn't issue many tags last night. And they didn't bother Mrs. Dove up in her crow's nest.

SAYS AMERICA SPENDS MILLION HOURLY ON DRINK

Philadelphia, Aug. 22 (AP)—A temperance leader asserted Friday that Americans are spending $1,094,566 an hour for alcoholic drinks.

Violet T. Black, of Evanston, Ill., told the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at its 75th diamond anniversary convention she arrived at this estimate "by dividing the number of hours per year (8,760) into the $8,000,000,000 reported by the U. S. Department of Commerce to have been spent by consumers in this country last year for alcoholic beverages."

Miss Black is treasurer of the WCTU.

She said "this money, wasted for a product which is mankind's greatest enemy, would finance the building of 100 acutely-needed homes, costing $10,000 each, every hour of the day or night."

Would Welcome Vote
She concluded: "The total drink bill, however, cannot be estimated without adding a sum equal to that spent for the beverages, to cover the cost of drink-caused crime, insanity, disease, broken homes, poverty, and other human and economic waste."

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, of New York, president of the WCTU, remarked Thursday that "the men and women of the United States would welcome an opportunity to express through a national vote their views in support of prohibition."

"Millions of dollars are being spent by prohibition foes throughout the country to prevent local option elections wherein communities can make known their desires to return to a prohibition status."

Russians Drink Water
"Despite their efforts, the records are encouraging and indicate an increasing number of communities are drying up or rejecting repeal when given an opportunity to vote in these local option elections."

Mrs. Colvin at the same time charged "drinking by U. S. officials at the Yalta and Potsdam conferences was greatly responsible for concessions made to the Soviets during the talks."

The WCTU head said U. S. representatives at the conferences wondered "how the Russians could consume such large quantities of vodka and keep sober, when it had such an intoxicating effect upon the Americans."

"But," she added, "we have learned since that Stalin and the Soviets outwitted the representatives of other nations by playing them with vodka while the Russians drink water from vodka bottles."

INDIVIDUALISM OF BRITISH IS HOLDING FIRM

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
Two young English brothers have simplified the heroic dreams of the world over by crossing the Atlantic—2,700 miles of lonely, tumbling seas—in a homemade 20-foot boat.

It is meet that this dangerous undertaking should have been played by adventurers bearing the universal tag of Smith. That's not an unusual name which comes strange to the tongue, but is fitting to the rank and file of pioneers the world over.

Naturally the home press has led on this expedition of Stanley and Colin Smith to demonstrate the fact that British character remains the same, despite the economic and political storm which the country now is experiencing. The London Daily Mail says:

The two Smiths stand as types which prove there is still nothing wrong with the British breed. . . . Britain may be down but she is not out. Governments come and go but men and women of the country remain. . . . They will fight and beat adversity.

Courage Not Dwindling
The London News Chronicle, in an obvious reference to the Socialism which now rules England, declares that "security may be won to a disillusioned generation, but there is reason to think that courage and the dwindling virtues in this modern world." The London Daily Graphic cites the brothers' achievement in stressing the value of individualism as against state-controlled life.

Well, is the London press right? Does Britain still retain that private initiative which made her great, or is she abandoning individualism for a cradle-to-grave security promoted by a paternalistic Socialism? That's a problem which the people of John Bull's island are trying to solve. Iron out of their harassed minds, they now as they struggle with a free economic crisis whose end no one can foresee clearly. A general election to select a new parliament due to take place not later than next summer. Is Britain's first Socialist government capable of handling this crisis, or must the country return to the free enterprise sponsored by the Conservative party under which the war was fought?

Look To Future
As indicated in this column yesterday, the consensus of neutral observers is that the British Socialist party isn't responsible for the present economic crisis in England. The crisis was the result of two wars and was inherited.

However, the question most certainly arises whether Socialism, with its nationalization and paternalistic perversion of the individual, is capable of meeting this great emergency. Time alone can answer that.

Adams County Farm And Garden Section

DAY LILY IS GROWING FAST IN POPULARITY

The day lily (Hemerocallis) is fast coming into its own as a truly reliable hardy perennial, unequaled by any other in adaptability to a variety of conditions, says Gisela Grimm in The New York Herald Tribune.

Gardeners are becoming increasingly aware of the many new forms developed by plant breeders, and which are a revelation to those familiar with only the older, more common sorts. The day lily is no longer merely a yellow or orange flower, but a perennial with many distinctive varieties. There are not only shades of yellow and orange, but also purples, reds, rich brown and mahogany, and soft shades of rose, apricot and peach.

There are many reasons why this perennial has gained popularity. One is the ease with which it grows. Few perennials have the ability to grow as well in Florida as in Maine, in the Mid-West and on the Pacific coast. Day lilies may be grown in all parts of the country, although one must not expect all varieties to grow equally well in all sections.

Grows in Variety of Soils
The day lily grows equally well in sweet or acid soils provided they are not extreme. It will grow in light or heavy soil if it is well drained and moderately supplied with plant food. However, the finer varieties especially, will respond to a rich, loamy soil.

If the soil is light, some form of humus, such as leafmold or peat moss, and a balanced fertilizer or well rotted manure or compost mixed with the soil is advantageous. Very heavy soils are improved by the addition of sand and leaf mold, manure or compost.

Moisture during the blooming season is important for finest bloom, despite the fact that the day lily is remarkably drought-resistant. One will note how beautifully they grow and bloom along the banks of a pond or stream where drainage is good and the long roots are within reach of a constant supply of moisture.

Although blooming well in partial shade, most day lilies bloom most profusely in full sun. No position is too sunny and hot if sufficient moisture is supplied. In positions shaded the greater part of the day, the plants are inclined to grow tall and produce more foliage than flowers.

Free of Insects and Disease

One of the strong points in the day lilies' favor is their freedom from insects and diseases. The only insect the writer has known to bother them was red spider in periods of great heat and drought. Water from the hose will dispel them. Sprayers and dusters may be discarded as far as day lilies are concerned.

Plants of day lilies may be moved at almost any season, even during the hot summer, if lifted with care and well watered for some time afterward. However, early fall or early spring planting is best. Plants set out in September or early October will flower the following season unless the divisions are very small, but it usually takes several years for them to develop to their fullest beauty, and only when the center of the clump becomes crowded with shoots will it be necessary to lift and divide it.

Each division should be given ample room to grow by spacing the tall-growing sorts 18 inches apart, and the smaller ones a foot apart. Care should be taken not to plant the divisions too deeply. An inch above the point where the root and foliage meet is about right. Some light protection is advisable the first winter in the North.

Blooms Through Summer
The many varieties of day lilies now available make it possible for one to have blooms from May to October. Moreover, each individual variety has a long blooming period, some from four to six weeks, and some are recurrent bloomers. Although each blossom may last but a day as many as 50 buds may be produced on one stalk, and established clumps produce dozens of stalks of bloom. Few flowers may be counted on to give so much bloom for so little care.

The wise gardener will plant day lilies freely in the flower borders where they combine nicely with other perennials, particularly phlox, platycodon, delphinium and veronicas. No garden is too formal for these beautiful flowers. On the other hand, they are equally pleasing used informally in front of shrubs, along drives, on grassy slopes, in meadows, along streams and ponds, in open groves, in fact in any place where either a spot or a mass of color is needed.

Late Summer Jobs For Home Gardeners

Lilacs that look sick at this season can frequently be cured by liming the ground around them quite heavily, followed next spring with a mulch of half-rotted manure. Be sure to provide adequate water during dry periods.

To control the azalea-stem borer, cut off and burn all wilted stem tips an inch or two below the point of wilting as soon as they are noticed, and inject into all holes in older portions of the stem and trunk a nicotine paste such as Bortox or Borekil.

Early stages of white rust on portulaca can be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture. This disease also affects arabis and some other plants in the Arabis family.

Spray the Christmas Cactus plant daily with plain water from an atomizer. A loose, porous soil quite rich with humus suits this species best.

Give gladiolus plants a thorough watering each week until blooming time.

Oriental poppies that become dormant may be divided and replanted. Stop feeding and cultivating roses. They should now ripen their wood for the winter.

Start a compost heap now while lawn clippings and other materials are abundant.

Plant daffodils, scillas, autumn crocus, snowdrops and grape hyacinths as soon as they are received.

Poultry Pointers

By FREDERICK BLOCK

Cannibalism, which means eating flesh from its own kind, may be disastrous for a flock owner if this happens with his birds, and he does not discover it in time. The most common causes are feather picking, blow outs and crowding of many birds in too limited space.

The chicken's ancestor, which was just as able to fly as other wild birds, lived mainly from meat in form of small animals, insects and worms. Today, the chicken still prefers insects and worms. As soon as there is a blow out in a flock with blood perceptible the nearest chicken will start pecking the injured part of its "neighbor," and it will not take long for many chickens to start pecking the injured bird until the victim has been killed. When birds get acquainted with the taste

Also plant madonna lilies. Sow radishes, lettuce and parsley in the coldframe for a late fall and winter crop.

Give late-sown vegetables an application of a complete plant food and water in to hasten them to maturity.

This is a good time to plant or transplant evergreen trees and shrubs. Spray the tops with water every day for several weeks to prevent the rapid transpiration of moisture from the foliage.

of blood and like it, they may hunt for more of it and fight and peck and kill each other. It frequently happens that only a small percentage of birds survive such an outbreak. This can happen when you may not act quickly enough.

Take all injured birds out and darken the room so that birds can not see each other; this will check the situation temporarily, but do not leave the room darkened for a time, because sudden change of light can cause a laying bird to molt. A good method to check cannibalism is to give the birds alternatively salt for half a day in the drinking water, and salt free water to drink for the other half day. One to two tablespoons of salt per gallon of water is the right proportion. It will check feather picking and cannibalism in most cases. If you do not want to take the chance of forgetting to change the water, you may mix salt into feed. If fed all mash mix up to two percent (don't forget that commercial mash contains one per cent salt). If you feed grain and mash increase the salt content of the mash up to four per cent until controlled, however, not longer than three or four days in a row. When birds have free choice of oats in their ration cannibalism has been rarely observed, but too much oats can cause other trouble as pendulous crops or impacted gizzards. Mechanical devices attached to the chicken's beak, prevent feather picking and cannibalism. Another method is cutting back the top of the upper mandible of the beak to such a point that pecking is painful for the attacking bird.

Cannibalism in turkeys can be controlled the same way as in chickens, but the most practical way is ringing the turkey's beak with rings, which you can obtain from your turkey supply dealer. You need for the procedure a specially manufactured pair of pliers. It is advisable to have an experienced "ringer" attach the rings to your turkeys to avoid injuring them.

SUMMER and WINTER

Inside, It's Always SPRING!

Ever stop to think just why people live in houses? One reason! Because no one wants to subject himself to the harsh whims of the weather. You can do better than just living in a house, these days. You can snub all temperature extremes, by insulating. Insulation is not a luxury. It's an investment—for, while reducing interior temperatures by 10-15 degrees during hot summer months, it saves enough fuel bills in just a few seasons, to completely pay for itself. It will last as long as the house into which it is installed!

Call 643-Y or stop in today, for an informative chat with one of our representatives. No obligation, of course.

RUSSIAN NOTE TO TITO CALLED "WAR THREAT"

London, Aug. 22 (AP)—British newspapers said today the new Russian note to Marshal Tito sounds like the worst threat of war since 1939.

To the conservative Daily Telegraph the Soviet assertion that it may take "more effective measures" to protect its citizens in Yugoslavia was "the very language of Hitler's exhausted patience."

The conservative Daily Mail wrote: "My patience is exhausted. I must march to restore order. Russia's words fall upon our ears like a sinister echo across a decade."

The laborite Daily Herald's diplomatic correspondent said the note is "a nearer a threat of war than anything since Hitler."

The Daily Mail said the "acute hostility between the regimes of these two countries has reached such a pitch that an outbreak of war would not be astonishing."

It added: "The American House of Representatives has certainly chosen a bad moment to cut military aid to Europe."

Red Propaganda

Moscow, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Soviet Press and radio devoted much space and time today to foreign reactions to the latest Soviet note to Yugoslavia.

Half of Pravda's foreign news page was taken up with dispatches from abroad on the subject. Sample headlines in the official Communist party newspaper were:

"Tito's clique conducting secret negotiations with Vatican."

"Traitorous deal of the Tito clique with Greek Monarchist-Fascists."

A "Colonel Chelchik of the Yugoslav general staff" was quoted as saying "the Tito clique increases terror in Yugoslavia."

78 Die In Forest. Blazes In France.

Bordeaux, France, Aug. 22 (AP)—Raging forest fires have killed at least 78 persons in this southwest corner of France.

The fires, worst disaster to strike France since the war, wiped out whole villages in their sweep over an area about 20 miles wide and 30 miles deep.

Early today the army said it had the blaze under control but that troops were still pouring tons of water on the hot, smoldering embers.

Martin Denies He Is Against Bonus

Harrisburg, Aug. 22 (AP)—Sen. Edward Martin said today Philip Mathews, Democratic state chairman, has "resorted to misrepresentation" on the soldier bonus issue "for political advantage."

"Only by distorted reasoning or ignorance could you possibly reach the conclusion that I am now or have ever been opposed to the bonus," Martin stated in a letter to Mathews, made public here.

Martin who already has announced he is "100 per cent for the bonus," replied to a statement of Mathews which said Martin's failure to mention the bonus in a speech to the American Legion convention indicated he was opposed to it.

A $500,000,000 bonus bond issue will be on the November ballot.

"Every veteran in Pennsylvania knows," Martin said, "that the 1946 platform of the Republican party x x x upon which I ran for election to the United States Senate, declared in favor of the bonus x x x every veteran knows that the bonus legislation was passed by two sessions of the General Assembly, under Republican leadership and control."

It is no wonder the German students "inhaled the oxygen" of our democracy.

Some of the elements that caused the German students to "feel" our democracy are a Constitution to protect the rights of the individuals, legislative bodies to form the laws, a judiciary system to interpret the laws, and last but not least, private enterprise as the tangible evidence of the freedom enjoyed by our citizens.

ing in the corridor of the high school by the various supervising principals of county schools.

Banquet Planned

The annual banquet will be held in St. James Lutheran church from 12:45 to 1:45 o'clock, it was announced and efforts are being made to have the 45 retired teachers in the county present for the banquet as well as for a meeting of the retired teachers held in connection with the institute.

Materials for the penmanship, art and vocational work displays to be exhibited at the South Mountain Fair are to be brought to the institute, Slaybaugh pointed out, and a committee will pick up the articles at the institute and take them to the fair grounds so they can be placed prior to the opening of the fair the following day.

The second day of institute for the county teachers will be the annual convention of the Southern PSEA district, the county superintendent announced. That session will be held October 7 at Harrisburg.

Truman Claims

the Far East, "need military assistance if they are to maintain their national security."

While most of the aid sought in the arms program would go to the Atlantic treaty countries, he said the Philippines and Korea will share like others "whose security is important to world peace."

"We must continue our aid to Greece and Turkey," Mr. Truman said. "We should help Iran maintain its firm stand against Soviet pressure."

"Investment in Security" Mr. Truman said military aid is "part and parcel" of the policy of helping European economic recovery. He conceded it was costly, but said "it represents an investment in security that will be worth many times its cost." And he said it is "part of the cost of peace."

Unless the democracies stand together to weld a defense structure strong enough to prevent another conflict, he said, they can be taken over "one by one."

Contrasting United States efforts to aid other countries with those of Russia, the President cited U.S. support of the United Nations, and its aid to Greece and Turkey in 1947 which "preserved the integrity of both countries."

He said the Marshall Plan recovery program prevented general collapse in Europe.

The President applauded the signing of the pact of Rio de Janeiro binding North and South America together in a defense alliance and compared this with the North Atlantic defense pact.

VFV Is Praised "The next task," he said, "is to back up this principle with military assistance to European nations, and to certain other nations, which are unable to build up their defenses without outside help."

He said the help would be extended in three forms (1) by aid to these nations in increasing military production, (2) by transferring to them essential military equipment and (3) by sending experts to help train and equip their military forces.

The President praised the VFV for its contributions to international policy, including its support of the North Atlantic treaty. He spoke of his pleasure that the VFV honored today representatives from other Atlantic pact countries.

Without America's allies in the cause of peace, Mr. Truman said, "our task would be hopeless."

'Binac' Brings Science Step Nearer To 'Thinking Machine'

By HERB ALTSCHULL

Philadelphia, Aug. 22 (AP) — The long dreamed of day of the thinking machine may be nearer than you imagine.

The world is closer to that day now than ever before. Scientists have invented an electrical monster that can perform any mathematical exercise and can memorize more than 500 numbers.

This giant brain, using wires and coils instead of nerves and blood cells, is known as the Binac. It is the second electronic brain created by J. Presper Eckert, Jr., 30, and John W. Mauchly, 42, former University of Pennsylvania physicists.

Details of the Binac were disclosed yesterday for the first time. Eckert and Mauchly put the machine through a test run in which it did 500,000 additions and 200,000 multi-plications in two hours. A man working with an adding machine would have taken years to do the same computing.

Eckert said it isn't true that the machine can think right now. But in the future?

"We don't know that it's impossible for these machines to think," said Eckert.

Binac's predecessor was known as the Eniac. It performed very much like Binac, but it is 30 times bigger and can't operate as fast. Eniac weighs 30 tons, Binac less than one.

Eckert and Mauchly now are at work on their third automatic computer. That one will be called the Univac and it will be far superior to either of the others.

Univac will be able to do almost anything. The first two Univacs produced will play each other a game of chess. Eckert said they may even be able to write music.

Eniac and Binac use what is known as the Binary numbering system. It is a highly complicated system in which only two digits — zero and one — represent all numbers and combinations in the decimal system we all use in everyday living.

But Univac will go them one better. Univac will use decimal numbers and also letters, small and capital.

Univac will go to work next year recording the 1950 census data. Prudential Life Insurance company will get one of the first univacs to complete its records.

Cost of Univac hasn't been determined yet. Eniac cost $500,000 and Binac, which was built for Northrop Aircraft, Inc., of Hawthorne, Calif., was sold for $250,000.

Binac will tell Northrop all it wants to know about test phases of new planes and guided missiles. In time it might do away with the danger of test runs.

The key to Binac's operation is its memory. Eckert and Mauchly refer to the machine as if it were human. The numbers memorized each have addresses and the electrical pulses which pick out the numbers to be computed are called messengers.

Like Merry-Go-Round

"It operates like a merry-go-round," Mauchly told reporters. He said that 512 numbers, fed into the machine on the magnetic tape, are sent into channels in mercury tanks. The machine is given its instructions in the same way.

"The instructions tell the messengers to go get the number living in location 322, for example," Mauchly said. "They pick him up and carry him to the computing machine."

"Then they get the number in location 163 and take him to the computing machine too. These two operations take less than one-thirtieth of a second."

The computing device can add or group are Greek Catholics. The others, who came from eastern Ukraine, are Greek Orthodox.

After the meeting, the Ukrainians posed for a few pictures by a Gettysburg Times photographer and then started off for their new homes in many parts of the county—from East Berlin to the Fairfield section—in cars of their employers. A number of the employers attended the meeting and were interested spectators although they could understand little that was said in the speeches.

The Ukrainian flag that waved beside the Stars and Stripes at the Bishop home Sunday was made specially for the occasion. Its bright yellow and blue reminded the Ukrainians of the "good old days" in the home country—before Communism. The Ukraine has no flag now.

The Ukrainians, most of whom subtract 3,500 times a second. It can make 1,000 multiplications or divisions a second. Binac also takes square and cube roots and squares and cubes numbers.

Without batting an eyelash, Eckert verbally whisked the world into a Buck Rogersish future most people think is strictly for comic books. "Machines do most of our manual labor," Eckert said, "why can't we have machines that do complicated mental problems? Why can't we develop machines that will think?"

Next month the 25 or more school age youngsters among the Ukrainians will be enrolled in public and parochial schools of the county—and their parents expect the English their children learn at school to help the parents qualify for American citizenship.
